TRUMAN SIGNS EUROPEAN AID BILL AS DEBATE ON APPROPRIATION CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—President Truman today signed the $597,000,000 stop-gap European aid bill. Aides disclosed in mid-forenoon that the bill was signed at 9:20 a. m. in the president's office without ceremony.

Only members of the president's staff witnessed the signing.

Yesterday, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters a special ceremony was planned to emphasize the importance of the measure.

But Ross told reporters today that the President found it impossible to arrange a ceremonial signing because of the difficulty of getting to the White House at one time all of those who had a major part in the passage of the legislation.

The announcement that the measure had been signed came as the house went back to debating the $88,000,000 cut in appropriations committee recommended in the program.

It was part of a 30 per cent trimming the committee made in producing a $772,726,000 measure to finance foreign aid and Army occupation costs.

The measure went to the house floor with an appropriations committee recommendation that the $1,118,165,000 total asked by President Truman be shaved by $345,539,000. While some members voiced dissatisfaction with the committee cuts in the stop gap foreign aid and occupation funds, Chairman Taber (R-NY) predicted the bill would clear the house without substantial change. Senate approval must follow.

In a second move to meet Europe's economic plight, the house foreign affairs committee jumped off to a head start toward setting up the machinery for long term aid.

Without waiting for Truman to submit the multi-billion dollar Marshall plan in detail later in the week, the committee advanced by a special committee headed by Rep. Herter (R-Mass) for managing long range aid through a $500,000,000 government corporation.

Before getting the hearings under way, however, the committee planned to act on a suggestion from Rep. Francis Case (R-SO) that the administration be asked for all details on the dismantling of German industrial plants for reparations payments and how European recovery prospects may have been affected.

LISBON, COUNTY

LISBON, Dec. 17—Lisbon schools and all rural schools of the county will recess Friday, Dec. 19 for the Christmas vacation with classes resuming Monday, January 5, according to Supt. H. C. Leonard and County Supt. W. E. Roberts.

Both school officials expressed the hope that during the vacation some of the colds and cases of measles which have caused many absences may be curbed and the attendance restored to normal when the schools re-open.

SMOKE CONTROL, PAY HIKES OKAYED TUESDAY

NEW ORDINANCE TO CURB SMOKE, DIRT
IN CITY LIMITS

Issuance of an excessive amount of smoke from any heating or steam producing equipment in the city of Salem is now illegal, according to an ordinance passed Tuesday by Salem city council.

Regulated by the Ringleman Smoke chart, a device approved by the United States Bureau of Mines, smoke issuances in Salem will hereafter be checked periodically by a smoke inspector and operators of furnaces or other smoke producing equipment will be required to screen issuances accordingly, council explained.

Kesselmire Inspector
Elmer T. Kesselmire, city health officer, has been officially designated as smoke control inspector and will begin his duties in that capacity, along with health department chores, about Jan. 1.

The new ordinance, adopted after more than two months of detailed study by Councilman Ned Massa's ordinance committee, stipulates periodic inspections of existing smoke issuing equipment within the city.

It also requires that any property owner installing new smoke producing equipment, such as furnaces, boilers, large smoke stacks, stokers, etc., must submit plans and specifications to the smoke control inspector for approval before the installation can be made.

The ordinance establishes fees for the inspections varying from $1 to $3 per inspection, depending on the size of the equipment.

The ordinance specifically eliminates strictly private dwellings and apartment buildings in which fewer than four families are housed.

Smoke issuances of more than two minutes at any one time, or more than eight minutes within any one hour, of greater density than No. 2 rate on the Ringleman chart, are considered "nuisances" and subject to fines to be given property owners, the ordinance stipulates.

Council explained that actual enforcement of the ordinance will be delayed until Kesselmire acquires proper equipment.

MAJ. GEN. GROVES
GIVEN THREE STARS

Promoted After Excellent
Service On A-Bomb Project During War

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—Major Gen. Leslie R. Groves, who heads the military's atomic activities, was promoted by President Truman today for the three-star rank of lieutenant general.

Truman sent Groves' promotion to the senate for its approval.

Groves, who supervised the original atom bomb project as chief of the former "Manhattan engineer district," now holds two important posts in the atomic energy set-up.

He is a member of the military liaison committee of the atomic energy commission—the group which gives the uniformed services their contact with the all-civilian commission—and head of the armed forces special weapons project. This latter organization is charged in secret but is known to include nuclear fission in its studies and research.

Groves, now 51, was a brigadier general when the late President Roosevelt designated him to take over direction of the A-bomb project in 1942. He was promoted to two-star rank at about the time of the first test blast in 1945.

Before Dec. 31 the party division shows five Republicans and two Democrats among the voting members and a Democrat as president of council.

Now, with Keonreich back as councilman-at-large, the count will be four Republicans and three Democrats on the voting side of the benches. Cornwall, a Republican, will be president.

Council will officially take its office Dec. 31, 1947 for the new term. City Solicitor Henry L. Reese will swear the members in at the 7:30 p. m. session at city hall.

The group and city officials will mark the biennial council-end with a dinner party at the Lape hotel on Friday, Jan. 2.

IS HELD BY LIONS

Charles Edwards of S. Landy ave., a member of the Lions club who is recovering at Warm Springs, Ga., from an infantile paralysis attack, was remembered with a Christmas gift when the Salem club met Tuesday evening for a holiday party at the Lape hotel.

Santa Claus (Robert Rheunant) distributed gifts in an exchange, while special prizes were shared by O. A. Davis, Leo Beall, Frank Byerly, Ray Dean, Willard Opender, Floyd Craig, Rev. Fr. William Appell, John Hanlon, Capt. John Jensen and Rheunant.

Clyde V. Williams acted as master of ceremonies for the evening's entertainment, ably assisted by Carl Auman and Willard Opender. A steak dinner was enjoyed.

The Lions club members voted to join the Kiwanians in ringing the Salvation Army kettles on downtown street corners Monday.

New Tax Due!
Solons Will Enforce Tax
On Admissions Because Prices Stayed Same

Salem soon may have a three per cent city tax on amusement admissions, city council indicated Tuesday evening.

At the suggestion of Finance Chairman Harry Vincent, council asked the ordinance committee to prepare legislation for the collection locally of a three per cent tax.

The tax became legal from the city's angle on Oct. 1 when the state by-passed the levying in favor of municipalities. Salem did not adopt collection then, choosing to give citizens a refund on admissions.

Vincent said he wanted collection here because council had tried to give that money back to tax-payers, but since it was dropped, he said he has noticed that operators of amusement places in Salem have not lowered admissions three per cent.

"Consequently," Vincent explained, "Salemites might as well get some good from the money they are paying by turning it in to their city government."

The legislation is expected to be presented to council by the committee early in the new year.

Council Shuffle
Dec. 31 Involves
Four Positions

When Salem city council holds a special session on New Year's eve, Dec. 31, for re-organization proceedings, there will be a lot of shuffling with little actual change in personnel.

It's a complicated situation, involving four actual shifts in jobs and only one change in council's over-all memberships.

For instance: President of Council Fred Keonreich will give up the presidency he acquired by appointment and will go back to his councilman-at-large duties.

Fourth Ward Councilman Charles Cornwall will give up his Fourth ward assignment and will take over as president of council, replacing Keonreich.

Councilman-at-large Carl Abe, appointed to fill a vacancy a year ago, will give up his at-large assignment and will turn into Fourth ward councilman.

The only new man in the entire shift will be George Chappell, a Republican, who comes into the confused picture to replace Arch Wentz, who retired this term after serving four in a row as Second Ward representative.

The shift in assignments among the first three mentioned does things to council's party voting set-up.

Before Dec. 31 the party division shows five Republicans and two Democrats among the voting members and a Democrat as president of council.

Now, with Keonreich back as councilman-at-large, the count will be four Republicans and three Democrats on the voting side of the benches. Cornwall, a Republican, will be president.

FLAT $20 A MONTH
INCREASE GRANTED
CITY'S EMPLOYEES

Non-elective city employees were given a flat $20 a month pay increase by city council Tuesday night as cost-of-living adjustment.

The increases, on a flat $20 a month across-the-board basis, were granted after employees had petitioned council for 15 per cent boosts at the Nov. 4th meeting.

Finance Committee Chairman Harry Vincent explained the ordinance council adopted under emergency suspension of rules last night by saying it was the most council could afford at the present time.

Vincent said the raises were not meant to be permanent boosts in basic rates, but simply gave employees all that could be spared for the approaching year. He said a small surplus in funds over regular expenses was foreseen for 1948, thus allowing the increase.

Some Not Included
The raises effect most employees in the police, fire, service, water, disposal plant and health departments. Some part-time employees, such as clerks of council and civil service commission and the city nurse, were not granted raises, Vincent explained.

The ordinance becomes effective with the pay beginning Jan. 1, 1948. Council also passed transfer ordinances totaling $2,200 to purchase two new half ton pick-up trucks for the water and service departments.

Service Director Frank K. Wilson reported that the Parker Chevrolet Co. of Salem was low bidder on the truck contract with a $2,055 net bid.

Council learned that Nov. 4 election expenses to the city were $514.14, according to figures supplied by the board of elections.

Council's streets, alleys and sidewalks committee took under consideration a recommendation from the planning commission that alleys, running north and south, between W. Wilson and W. Pershing streets, near the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, be made one way.

The commission suggests the east alley be made one way for northern traffic and the west alley one way for southern traffic.

Four accidents Tuesday in this area damaged a number of motor vehicles, but no one was injured, the Salem state highway patrol said.

A car driven by Earle W. Hamblin, 55, of Alliance skidded and went off the road when he tried to stop for a school bus. He suffered bruised knees. The mishap occurred at 8:40 a. m. Tuesday on Route 62, near Route 173.

Two cars were damaged on Route 165 at 8:45 a. m. Tuesday, just north of the junction of Routes 14 and 165. In attempting to pass a car parked just off the highway Irving J. Schmidt, 33, of Youngstown, skidded on an oncoming car driven by George R. Borton, 29, also of Youngstown.

Truck Rams Car
At 9:20 a. m., at the same spot, Truck Driver David Knopp, 28, of Salem went around the parked car and sideswiped another driven by Ruben W. Piper, 45, of Wilkesburg, Pa. The latter car then left the road and struck Borton's already damaged car on the other side of the highway.

All three were damaged. Four vehicles were involved in a peculiar collision at 7 p. m. Tuesday at the junction of Routes 224 and 45.

A car driven by Robert Bardo, 25, of Berlin Center attempted to make a left turn at the intersection. A truck driven by Clarence Siler, 37, of Lewisville, Pa., attempted to avoid the Bardo car, but sideswiped it. Siler's truck then careened across the road and hit two parked cars, and the front of a nearby restaurant.

The parked cars were owned by Earl A. Smith, 26, and Leroy A. Breit, 20, both of Berlin Center. All four vehicles and the building were damaged.

Siler was arrested for reckless driving and fined by Mayor Hugh Dickson of Canfield.

"HOLIDAY LIKE"
IN RUSSIA NOW

Since Rationing Abolished
Wide Scale Buying Goes
On, Report Says

BY EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Dec. 17—Izvestia published dispatches from many parts of the Soviet union today reporting that since rationing was abolished Sunday, there has been wide scale consumer buying in a "holiday-like" atmosphere.

Russian citizens currently are trading their old rubles for new at rates varying up to ten to one. The currency revaluation and the end of rationing were announced in the same edict.

Izvestia said 120,000 retail stores had been repaired or organized anew in a short period, and were selling goods.

Have Plenty of Goods
"The stores have large quantities of goods," the newspaper said. The article cited the trade ministries of Armenia, Moldavia and Uzbekistan, however, as "lagging behind" in the development of trade.

"The network of stores in Chelyabinsk, Rostov and Kirov regions is not sufficiently organized," the article said, "many stores remain unoccupied and the law gives ground floors in certain new buildings to stores that have not been carried out everywhere. It is now up to the workers that all mass goods should reach the consumers and rapidly. Collective storages and cooperative stores should be organized more energetically and more farmer markets should be set up."

The article said collective farms were selling more produce to the state.

The gastronomes—Moscow's super-delicatessens—also are selling unrationed food now. Foreigners who formerly had their own gastro-

Three State Patrol
Arrested Recorded

Three drivers were arrested Tuesday for traffic violations in the district, the Salem state highway patrol reported.

Lester C. Sommers, 29, of R. D. 3, Ravenna was fined $20 and costs by Justice Clara Gardner of Edinburg for overloading his truck.

Harold E. Van Winkle, 26, of Lisbon was fined $20 and costs by Justice Gardner on a similar charge.

John Vargovich, 47, of Cleveland, was fined $20 and costs by Justice Gardner for speeding.

SENATE ORDER TO ANDERSON
FORTHCOMING

Will Demand Secretary
Appear Before Group
With Trade List

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—Senate Republican leaders decided today to order Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to appear before a senate committee with information on grain and other commodity trading.

The announcement was made by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee, after a meeting hastily called at the request of the appropriations committee to consider Anderson's refusal to make public any information unless authorized to do so by joint congressional resolution.

In a letter to Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the appropriations committee Anderson suggested yesterday that congress adopt a joint resolution "and thereby legalize the action which I shall then be glad to take."

"I have consulted President Truman," Anderson said, "and am confident that he will approve a joint resolution of congress to effectuate my suggestion that names of traders be made available."

Taft said "the secretary is absolutely wrong under the law," in refusing to furnish the committee the information without a resolution.

The appropriations committee is trying to run down rumors that government officials used inside information to profit in commodity trading. The agriculture department has limited regulatory authority over commodity exchanges and under this authority is able to collect information on trading, including names of traders.

A subpoena, or order, for Anderson to produce this information would be issued by the appropriations committee. That group was called to meet at 2 p. m. today.

Taft said the Republicans want to know whether Anderson made his investigation of the commodity exchanges and whether there have been "any leaks" from the government "which may have reached traders either in or out of the government."

The Republicans are prepared to go to the brokers to obtain information if necessary, Taft added.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), a member of the appropriations committee, said he was speaking for Chairman Bridges and told reporters the committee intends to ask Anderson for all of the information.

SAYS HE WILL GIVE UP JOB
AT TERM END

Will Not Seek Re-election
Because He Feels "Things Are Not Right"

Columbiana County Sheriff George Hayes, in an effort to "clear the air," today announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election to office in the 1948 election.

Hayes, who was first elected sheriff in 1930, revealed his decision this morning, saying "things are not right." He said he does not want to hold office if things cannot be run correctly.

"I know what the office should be and what should be done. If my hands are to be tied financially and otherwise, I want nothing to do with it."

Force Narrowed Down
He pointed out that his force consisted of seven deputies when he first took office. It is now pared down to two deputies and an office clerk.

However, he added, the office is now handling more work than ever before in spite of the decreased personnel allotment.

"We agreed during the war to cut expenses along with other county offices. Most of those offices have now had their personnel restored. We have not."

The sheriff said he wanted to have it known that he will not run in order to open the field for other candidates.

Hayes will remain in office until Jan. 1, 1949. He was first elected in 1930 and has served continuously since, except for a four year period between 1937 and 1941.

He is indefinite regarding his future plans, but indicated that he hopes to continue in law enforcement work, possibly in another state.

SCIO POTTERY AID
POURS IN QUICKLY

SCIO, Dec. 17—Rebuilding of the famed Scio-Ohio Pottery Co., which employed 825 persons in this community of some 1,300, sped forward today as assistance poured in from Ohio and West Virginia cities.

A large shipment of steel from Weirton, W. Va., and 2,000 building blocks from New Martinsville, W. Va. Arrived yesterday just five days after fire gutted the concern.

Steel pipes and plates were expected soon from Wheeling and a Detroit firm arranged to ship in quonset huts.

The factory, which suffered an uninsured loss of some $2,500,000, was the world's largest producer of plain white pottery and paid out $708,228 in bonuses last year.

All persons employed in the rebuilding here received free meals.

A milk company donated a truck full of milk and a baking concern gave a load of bread. Cigars and tobacco came from a Wheeling company and Cadiz, O., merchants sent 400 pairs of work gloves.

Cooperation also was promised by the mayors of Moundsville and Wheeling, W. Va., in getting the plant running again.

Schools Will Begin Holiday Recess
Friday; Programs Observe Christmas

Christmas might well be called the children's festival because they have such a large place in its celebration. Salem school children have been living in the inspiration of their favorite holiday for days, according to teachers.

In most of the schools there is one large tree, while one school's decorations includes a small tree in each room.

Besides making trimmings for their rooms, the students are following an annual custom of making gifts for their parents, relatives or friends.

Fifth grade students at Fourth Street school, taught by Mrs. Bertha Hoopes, at the suggestion of their teacher, decided to do something different this year.

Manifesting the real Christmas spirit they packed a gift box for European children, and sent it to the American Friends Service Committee, Philadelphia, which will make the overseas contact.

In this box were five homemade dolls and a dog, the handwork of as many girls and their mothers, bean bags, bath towels, wash cloths, soap, balls, toys and sweaters.

The celebration at this school included a Christmas opera by Mrs. Eugene Early's fourth graders Tuesday afternoon and a party Thursday afternoon given by the Parent-Teacher association. On Friday, which marks the last day before the holiday vacation, Christmas carols will be sung.

Every child in Prospect Street school will have part in a Christmas entertainment at 2 p. m. Thursday. Parents are invited.

McKinley school will hold its observance Thursday afternoon, with each room having its own program. Each morning at Columbus Street school the children have a period with the carols and devotions at the Christmas tree, which has been beautifully decorated by the children. Parents are invited for the caroling around the tree Friday morning. Each room will have a Christmas exchange.

Inflation Is Dynamite

The Republican effort to rush an anti-inflation bill through the house was another example of how the subject of inflation and political considerations have become hopelessly intertwined.

Knowing that adjournment is scheduled for Friday, the house majority countered President Truman's proposal with its own program and attempted to force it through without amendments. House Democrats were joined by 26 Republicans in refusing to hold for this, and the vote fell 58 short of the required two-thirds majority.

By this tactic the Republicans moved to be relieved of responsibility for failure to act on inflation at this session, just as Mr. Truman previously had endeavored to place the onus on congress by recommending "police state powers" which he had been condemning two months ago.

It now appears action to curb inflation will be held over until the regular session in January when the subject will have to be dealt with far more realistically. We cannot follow the Russian example of ruthlessly sending our economy through the wringer, but unless firm, non-political judgement is evidenced by both parties we may find ourselves in a predicament as calamitous as Russia's.

The price spiral is a crisis as serious as the wartime problems which were solved on a nonpartisan basis. It is a situation which requires a meeting of minds in Washington, without a glance toward next November. As to the specific steps involved, such elder statesmen as Bernard Baruch should be consulted and their recommendations embodied in law without regard to the entreaties and imprecations of pressure groups.

Inflation is dynamite. Hot air on Capitol Hill only fans the spark on its fuse.

The Conference Ends

The London foreign ministers' meeting has adjourned without agreement, dispelling with finality the vision of international cooperation first seen at Potsdam. There had been little doubt about the conference's eventual failure. Molotov's studied insults and the Russian refusal to divulge information on reparations from eastern Germany indicated Russia never had any desire to unify Germany except on impossible terms.

Breakup of the conference means Europe will remain a truncated continent and Germany a bisected nation. This seriously affects our plans for the future of Europe, for they had been based on the prospect of a unified Germany with free movement of goods from east to west. Both the Harriman report and the Marshall plan were based on a resumption of intra-European commerce.

The western democracies must now follow their second-best plan. They must have another look at the Potsdam agreement, which Russia has flouted since the very month it was initiated. They must abandon their policy of dismantling German plants and utilize Russian realism in making western Germany self-sufficient. They must build up Germany and nurture democratic processes within it so that it will stand as an example to the sector still in Russian hands.

Above all, the western allies must see that their cause is presented truthfully to the peoples of Germany and of Europe. They must see that Russian propaganda is answered—with deeds if possible and if not with deeds, with promises backed up with a resolve to make them reality.

The 1948 Models Are Out

Calendars, in their tubular casings, are adding to the postman's burden these days.

There are calendars as large as artillery maps and calendars so small they can be carried in wallets. Design runs the gamut from stately utilitarian through baroque romantic to abstractionist hen-tracks. Some calendars shout their commercial message; others speak in well-modulated, pear-shaped tones. A few confine their advertising to tiny print on the reverse side of the last sheet; the designers of these are shrewd, for they know the advertiser's name will be searched for and remembered.

In less favor these days are calendars with powdered mica snow scene and freehand approximations of "The Adoration of the Magi." Still popular is the calendar with a thought for each day, and the weather calendar which states with bold-face finality that next July 14 will be hot and next Oct. 5 clear and cool from what size crystal ball do the seers draw their forecasts for these?

But the old reliable calendar is the one with the pretty girl smiling at those who consult it through the year's four seasons. We bid a reluctant farewell at the year's end; only the fact that an even more interesting successor has arrived by mail makes it possible to part with her at all.

Political News From Abroad

Russia will hold elections Sunday for local, city, district and regional offices. Stalin and Molotov are candidates in Moscow, Molotov arriving home from London in time to do a little electioneering. Political observers give them both a good chance. In fact, their percentages should be comparable to what Hitler rolled up when he was reelected chancellor.

Official figures show Russian Communist party membership around 6,000,000, which is about three percent of the population. Communists explain that membership qualifications are rigorous because each member has special duties. It might also be added that each has special privileges.

Communists make much of American elective inequities, but not even in the most backward poll tax states does the party in power extend membership to only three percent of the population; and in states where inequities do exist, corrective steps are being taken. Communists who scoff at American elective processes as being undemocratic should look to the nation whence they draw their strength; they would see inequities.

This Head Resists Easy

Sweden's King Gustav V, who just observed the 40th anniversary of his coronation, has the support of his subjects as do few monarchs in these times. Gustav's unofficial title is "father of the country," and it is more than an honorary cognomen.

During his reign, social betterment has proceeded apace, under his personal supervision. Sweden's internal economy is stable and its welfare program is a model for other nations. The king has had an important part in this because he is more than a figurehead. He has the power to initiate and veto legislation. In many respects his powers exceed those of the president of the United States. His long, happy reign is evidence he has used those powers wisely.

BY GENEVIEVE REMBLE

Although there may be obstacles, snags and difficult problems, temporarily blocking the way, there is no intimation of finality in such predicament.

There is every evidence of shrewd insight, quick and comprehensive analysis of the setup, and exceptional grasp of underlying factors, the mind being keen, penetrating with the impetus toward singularity acute and sagacious handling of difficulties.

In this there should be desired help, with financial support for treading vaulting over obstacles.

For the Birthday
Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of impediment, frustration and stubborn obstacles, with lagging and static undercurrents.

Yet the mentality is so shrewd, calculating and dependable, with its studied analysis of problems and hold-ups, that it should be able to come with most disconcerting and disheartening situations.

In such crises, there is help from higher-ups, impressed by sound plans, and persistent labor to be generous in their support. Work toward enduring goals. A child born on this day has much capacity for overcoming obstacles and frustrations, by its exceptionally keen, shrewd and analytical mentality, attracting approbation from high places.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Seasonal Ear Infections Treated With Drugs

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
CANCER of the stomach is a curable disease, but only when it is discovered early enough and properly treated.

This means that all of us—doctors and laymen alike—must be on the alert for its earliest signs and must be more wary, perhaps, than we would need to be if there were only one simple test for cancer. Only by quick suspicion of every symptom that could indicate cancer of the stomach can we cut down the present dreadful toll taken by this disease—25,000 to 40,000 lives a year.

Unfortunately, cancer of the stomach, in its early stages, may cause few, if any, noticeable symptoms. However, sooner or later there is some pain or discomfort in the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, heartburn, sickness to the stomach, vomiting, loss of weight, and tiredness.

More Severe Pain
Of course, as the condition progresses, the symptoms may become much worse with more severe pain in the pit of the stomach, vomiting of coffee-ground-like material, great loss of weight, and blood not only in the stomach contents, but also in the bowel movements.

The patient becomes anemic, that is, lacking in the red coloring of the blood.

Since these symptoms of cancer vary so greatly, any disturbance of the digestion in a person over 35 or 40 years of age should receive the prompt attention of a physician. By careful studies, the doctor can, as a rule, tell whether or not cancer is present.

In Advanced Stages
The diagnosis of cancer in the advanced stages is not difficult. Not only are the symptoms clear, but X-ray examinations show the presence of a tumor growth.

But then it is usually too late. X-ray examination is the chief method of recognizing stomach cancer in its early stages. Even though an X-ray is negative, it is not conclusive evidence that cancer is not present.

Repeated examinations should be made if there is any suspicion that stomach cancer has developed.

Another Method
Another method of examination is the use of the gastroscope, an instrument made up of a tube with a light that can be passed into the stomach through the mouth.

With this instrument, the physician can see the lining membrane of the stomach directly and determine whether any abnormal conditions are present.

When cancer of the stomach is suspected, both an X-ray examination and the gastroscope examination should be employed to make sure of the diagnosis.

Of course, the treatment for stomach cancer is an immediate operation and removal of the necessary portions of the stomach.

With early operation, more than half of the patients with cancer of the stomach can be completely cured, according to present evidence.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

BY WALTER KIERNAN

WE CAN AFFORD to smile at the devaluation of the ruble... our dollar remains the soundest 59 cents to be found anywhere.

At Christmas the dollar buys a little less... but where there is a spirit of giving there must also be a spirit of taking.

But the Democrats missed a marvelous opportunity to pass the Republican anti-inflation program... simply because they didn't think it would work any more than the Republicans thought it would.

Now there is a prediction that meat supplies may not become normal until 1954... this will carry us through two more presidential elections if anyone has the strength to run.

Meanwhile there is news that a pound of popcorn contains as much energy as a sirloin steak... someone evidently found a sirloin to make the comparison.

But I hate to think of sitting down to a meal "just like popper used to make."

To transport the material used to surface ten miles of concrete highways requires the use of a train of 1480 cars.

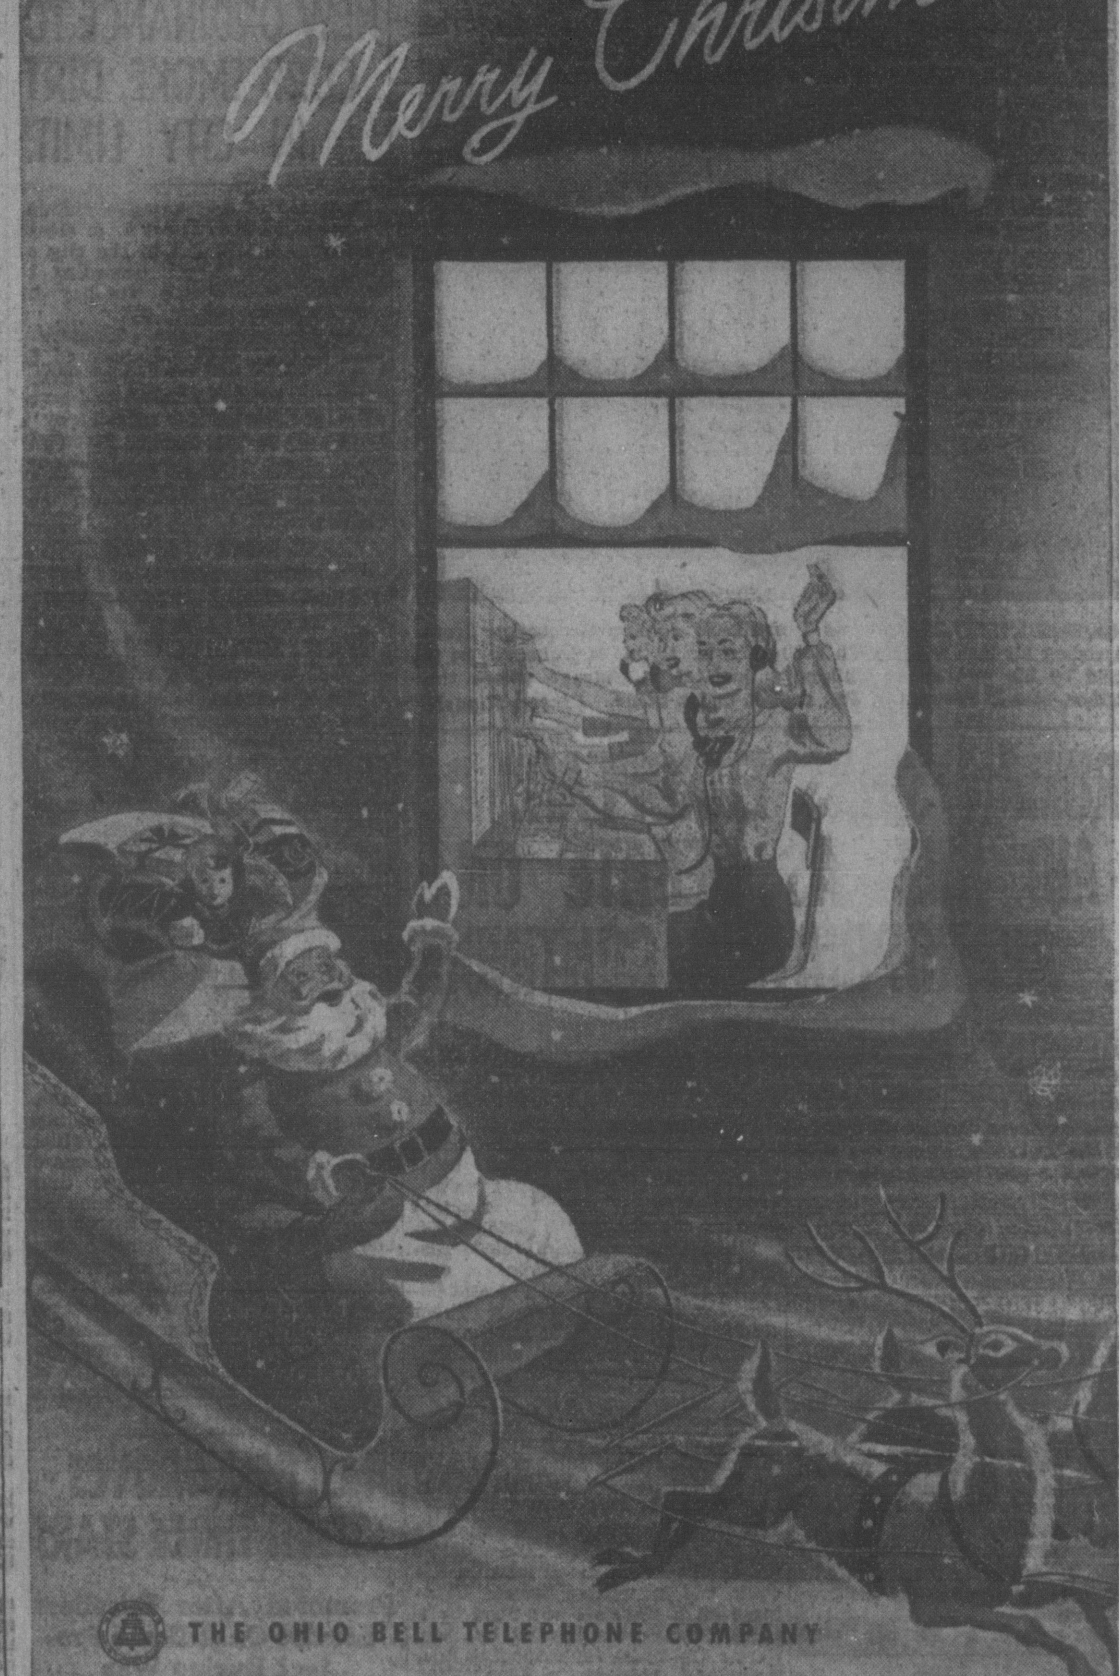

SO THEY SAY

It is a tragic fact that the rich and the poor do not enjoy equal justice in the courts... That is why I am strongly in favor of a Public Defender system.
—Justice J. Edward Lumbard, Jr., N. Y. Supreme Court.

It is time the public of America began to realize that housing is no longer in an emergency status... Today we have the most active building program going on that we ever had.

—Norman P. Mason, president, National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn.

DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE AT DESIRABLE PRICES!

Rainmaking Pilot Sells Assorted Rain Showers

By C. A. JOHNSON

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 17 — Rainmaking is a subject dear to the heart of H. A. Hershfield, Jr., whose nickname is "buzz," but answers equally readily to "Rain-in-the-face."

The flier describes himself and his associates as "probably the country's leading screwballs" in the business of making the clouds give up their moisture.

His records show that he has produced rain in seven out of nine trips aloft to drop compressed carbon dioxide or dry ice on likely looking clouds. His successes ranged from sprinkles to soakers of about an inch.

He is now working on gadgets to facilitate his experiments including an improved dry ice grinder and distributor and is looking forward to the day when he can advertise: "Leave your cornfield to Hershfield."

Holds All Offices

His rainmaking experiments are tied in with the aerial crop service of which he is vice president, secretary and chief rainmaker.

His service dusters crops for bugs; sprays weed killer; spreads fertilizer and sows light grains from the air. He hopes some day to do almost everything in the way of producing a crop except harvesting.

Hershfield's venture in forcing clouds to give up their moisture upon parched lands below was a spur of the moment affair one hot day last August.

Until then his crop service had confined its activities to spraying and dusting crops along the fertile Missouri river valley. One of his customers was the Peppard Seed Company, with extensive cornfields.

One day he called John Smith of the Peppard Company and inquired if he needed any dust that day.

"No!" was the answer. "I want something to settle the dust I've got."

To which Buzz replied: "Join me at lunch and maybe we can cook up something."

The flier had studied the experiments of Vincent J. Schaefer, General Electric research scientist, but Smith's plea was the spur that put him into the business.

Confer On Dry Ice

They were joined by several other men interested in such a project, including the sales manager of a firm producing dry ice.

While they were discussing the project, they spotted a cumulus cloud; decided that was what they needed. Quickly they dashed to the airport, picking up 100 pounds of dry ice on the way. The first attempt resulted in a shower.

A few days later they attacked clouds east of here. It was even more successful, producing up to an inch of rain in an area 25 miles long and five miles wide.

To produce rain by this method the first requisite is a cumulus cloud containing moisture in super-cooled form. The rainmaker, first checking wind direction and speed, flies over the cloud with a hopper full of the dry ice pellets.

As the pellets strike the cloud, snow or ice drops form and melt to fall as rain. For good measure, the pilot flies over it again with another sprinkling of dry ice. On the second trip, however, he must climb several thousand feet since the first sprinkling of the chemical causes the cloud to boil up and balloon.

Sets Prices

Of course, a flier can't hook onto a cloud and tow it to his target. That is where advance calculations of wind direction and speed come in. The pilot has to wait until the cloud is at the right spot.

Hershfield believes he was the first to put out a price list for making clouds. Actual flying time is at the rate of $48 an hour from the time his plane leaves the home airport. That is a base rate. In addition his schedule calls for $100 for a shower that will settle the dust; $500 for a soaking rain from one-half to one inch and $1,000 for a run of rain of one inch or better.

How To Travel At No Expense

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—If you're enterprising, it's possible to take your wife on a year-long trip to the tropics at no expense.

Catching their breath here before heading southward again, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McBride, of Los Angeles, told how they did it.

In a small boat they traveled down the California coast. The boat was sold in Mexico for "a big price." With that stake they went prospecting.

The gravel deposits of British Guiana paid off with about 80 ounces of gold and 350 carats of diamonds, McBride said. That balanced the books.

Donna Doyle, Paul Crawford Wed Sunday

In the Presbyterian church Upper Room chapel, Miss Donna Doyle and Corp. Paul F. (Jack) Crawford were married at 2 p. m. Sunday by Rev. David E. Molyneux.

Tall vases of gold and white chrysanthemums made an effective setting, as the couple stood at the altar to exchange vows in the double ring ceremony, witnessed by the immediate families.

Miss Anna Cook, church organist, played "O Perfect Love" for the professional recessional, "I Love You Truly" and "Always" during the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. Robert Talbot as she sang "Because."

The attractive bride wore a street length frock of winter-white, complimented with green accessories. She carried a small white Bible, with an arrangement of white carnations tied with streamers of narrow ribbon. Triple strand pearls, the groom's gift, completed her costume.

Shirley Doyle, her sister's bridesmaid, also was gowned in winter-white with contrasting black. She wore a red carnation corsage.

Richard Lodge of Winton, W. Va., served his cousin as best man. Mrs. Doyle was dressed in soldier blue and Mrs. Crawford in navy and both wore carnation corsages in pink and white.

The bride presented her sister a gold compact, while the groom gave his best man a cigar case in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Crawford, parents of the groom, entertained at a dinner in their home on E. Eighth st. preceding the ceremony.

Following the nuptials, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Doyle held a reception for the newlyweds in their Washington ave. home. Two hundred were present, including guests from Youngstown, Alliance, Lisbon, East Palestine, Columbiana, Leetonia, Winton and Salem.

Mrs. Doyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilhelm of Unity, her son, John, Jr., and his daughter, Rebecca Jane Doyle represented four generations which witnessed the ceremony.

Miss Martha Crawford and Mrs. John Doyle, Jr., served from a table laid with a white linen and lace cloth, with antique twin candelabra in cut glass on either side of the three-tiered wedding cake, which had a miniature bride and groom ornament on top.

For going away, the bride wore a brown suit with green and a corsage of carnations.

The couple will spend their honeymoon in Rapid City, S. D., where the groom is stationed with the radar division of the air corps. As he expects to leave on flight duty to Germany on Dec. 29, his bride will return to the home of her parents here, until his return.

Both are graduates of the class of '46 of Salem High school and she is employed in the office of Atty. Ralph Atkinson.

WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

"THE funny thing," concludes a young wife after a long discussion of her mother-in-law problem, "is that if she weren't my mother-in-law, I think we could be good friends."

There are probably a lot of mothers and daughters-in-law who could get along together and really enjoy each other's company if they started off on the basis of friendship, instead of trying to be a mother and daughter.

If she regarded her daughter-in-law as a young friend, the mother-in-law wouldn't make the mistake of offering unasked-for advice and criticism.

If she looked on her mother-in-law as an older woman whose friendship she valued, rather than as "my mother-in-law," the young wife wouldn't be so likely to use her as an unpaid baby sitter.

If a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law start off on the basis of friendship, and never drop courtesies, or stop making allowances for each other, there wouldn't be nearly as much in-law trouble.

RELATIONSHIP RARE Few women ever find they have a daughter in the girl their son marries. And few girls are fortunate enough to find that a mother-in-law can be a mother to them.

So, all too often, when they try for that relationship, they end up disillusioned and not even liking each other as persons.

But friendship is an easier relationship to achieve.

ANNOUNCE DRUG WHICH RELIEVES BLOOD DISEASES

Parke & Davis Release Information On New Illness Aid

DETROIT, Dec. 17—Successful development of a drug that brings temporary relief to people afflicted by diseases of the blood vessels was announced today by Parke, Davis and Co.

The drug, known chemically as tetraethylammonium chloride, acts as sort of "road block" to stop nerve impulses controlling the diameter of blood vessels, the company said. It claims "exceptional clinical results" for the substance, which was developed for public distribution after two years of work by Parke-Davis research teams. Scores of scientists, however, preceded the Parke-Davis phase of the investigation in the early development of the drug.

Called Etamon Chloride
Known commercially as etamon chloride, the drug produces a temporary effect in some patients similar to that produced by cutting the nerves of the involuntary nervous system in a surgical operation.

It is said to give temporary relief to the pain caused by symptoms of hardening of the arteries in the legs of older persons, to the neuralgia sometimes occurring after an injury, to the pain of shingles, and to cases of Buerger's disease which affects the small and medium-sized blood vessels of the legs and feet.

But while it will cause a temporary drop in blood pressure, it is not a treatment for the disease, the company warned, and can be used only under a physician's care. Although the effect of tetraethylammonium salts on animals was first discovered in 1914 by a Scottish experimenter, a continuous investigation of the drug was not launched until 30 years later.

This was started by Dr. George H. Acheson of the Harvard medical school and by Dr. Gordon K. Moe, a co-worker, now of the University of Michigan medical staff.

The Parke-Davis staff began work on the drug in 1945. Physi-clans of the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor were supplied with the compound and studied its effects clinically. Similar tests were later conducted in many parts of the nation.

The company said the nerve-blocking action of etamon chloride takes place in clumps of nerve cells called ganglia and affects only the involuntary nervous system, with no effect on the conscious nervous system.

PERSONAL HARMONY SHOWN BY GOP PARTY LEADERS NOW

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—An extraordinary state of personal harmony prevails today among high GOP leaders and the leading possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948.

This was demonstrated over the past weekend when most of the GOP potentialities were in Washington for the famous Gridiron club dinner.

It was disclosed today that Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, ex-Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, and the ranking "dark horse," Speaker Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, held personal conferences.

The fact that Taft and Dewey held a cordial get-together was matched by the fact both conferred with Mr. Landon, of Kansas. This indicated Landon will hold a strategic post of power in the 1948 convention as an Eisenhower backer.

Confer Briefly
Taft and Dewey met but briefly. They were extremely cordial. Neither would disclose what they talked about.

Observers noted, too, that many ranking Republicans conferred with Speaker Martin both before and after his speech to the Gridiron club. The Martin address was reported to have been a highlight of the dinner.

Friends said Taft, Dewey, Stassen, and Landon congratulated Martin on his speech. So, too, did Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, of Mich., a "dark horse" who is reported to have said he will not permit his name to go before the 1948 convention.

Observers say it is a question whether Republican leaders dug a deeper path to Martin's office or to Landon's hotel room over the weekend. It appears most GOP chiefs visited both, apparently believing both will have tremendous influence in the next convention.

One of Dewey's warmest supporters in congress had this to say of the GOP conferences:

"Republican leaders cannot afford to be unfriendly. They must get together. It is a good omen for the country that they were so friendly in a personal sense over the past weekend when they had the rare opportunity of meeting each other. It is imperative that the winning candidate for the 1948 presidential nomination have the earnest and friendly support of all other candidates and possibilities in order to win."

"The more cooperation there is between these potential nominees the more desirable it is, not only from a party standpoint but for the country's welfare. Really, a different spirit prevails in the party today. . . . One of cooperation and friendship . . . and it is all to the good."

"The nation faces so many serious problems at home and abroad and Republican harmony is most desirable and very much needed."

CONDUCT TEST ON FREE STATE IN JAP SECTOR

Freely Operated Police Force Being Tried Out By U. S.

BY TOM LAMBERT
TOKYO, Dec. 17.—A test tube experiment is being run in nearby Chiba prefecture which may determine whether Japan can be transmuted from a police state to a state with police.
The Japanese diet is considering a measure to break up the National police system in vogue for centuries.
As a sort of test of what to expect when the police system is changed, American and Japanese officials selected Chiba prefecture and installed a police force independent of the government.
The bill stipulates Japan shall have autonomous police forces in towns and cities of more than 5,000 population.
It does not abolish the national police force, but limits its powers. The national force will be 30,000 strong.
This national force will furnish police protection for towns and villages of less than 5,000 and will co-operate when asked—with the independent police of the larger cities and towns.
Both Americans and Japanese agree it's too early to evaluate the program in Chiba, where the independent police have been operating about a month, but old Japanese police heads are skeptical.
Fears Disintegration
Hideo Hisayama, director of the police bureau in the home ministry, with 13 years of bureaucratic police experience behind him, fears disintegration of Japan's police system. He said he doubted that the independent forces could work together on police problems.
Some time ago, however, one "autonomous" police force in Chiba arrested a burglar and three other independent forces co-operated in running him down.
It was the first time in Japan's history that a law-breaker was nabbed by a police force composed of other than government employees.
Under the proposed law, independent police forces will be selected through a commission of three appointed by the mayor.
Japanese police on the present national force probably will be given the choice of remaining or joining the autonomous forces.
A Nakagawa, chief of the home ministry's police bureau training section, said 70 per cent of Chiba prefecture's 1,000 police had asked to remain on the national force because they thought it offered more opportunity for advancement and they were doubtful of the ability of towns and cities to finance their own police.
The decentralization plan has run into heavy opposition from old Japanese bosses and politicians who formerly controlled the police.
It is doubtful if the Japanese, left to themselves, would have broken down the police system which stems from Tokyo and which once was used as a spying and terroristic organization to keep the people in line.
But General MacArthur has approved the plan and there is little the Japanese can do but obey.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—The Iron Age, national metal working weekly, said today there is little more the steel industry can do for consumers pleading for additional supplies.

"There is not a chance," said the publication, that output will be great enough for many a month to silence the insistent demand for some kind of action. The only possible answer during the first six months of 1948 is the maintaining of the present high ingot rate—a feat will depend on the weather, scrap market and availability of pig iron.

The magazine said that administration leaders and others advocating legislation providing for allocations controls in the steel industry "either are unfamiliar with current steel conditions or else are willingly fostering propaganda in order to bring about such allocations. The Iron Age said most steel users are getting more actual steel tonnage than they were a year ago but "because of continuing demand it may be many months before steel supplies will even remotely catch up with total steel requirements."

The weekly said quotations on steel scrap have been forced down by lack of large scale buying "which must be resumed soon if steel makers' inventory of scrap is not to melt away completely. The major test of present scrap prices is still to come."

The iron scrap composite price, continuing a gradual decline over the past seven weeks from the record $42.58 a gross ton hit in the week of Oct. 30, dipped 50 cents to $39.75.

Treasurer Reports On Personal Taxes

LISBON, Dec. 17—The current personal tax collection which just closed resulted in a collection of $203,356.53, County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge announced, including $165,280.30 general personal tax and $38,076.23 from the classified personal tax, while $9,085.23 of the current charge was entered in the delinquent columns which now total $43,715.64.

Plans for the collection of delinquent personal taxes are now under way in the offices of County Auditor Irvin J. Vorndran.

A list of the delinquent personal taxes is being prepared for publication similar to delinquent real estate taxes, and court action will be taken to enforce payment, it is stated.

However, $4,855.80 was collected on delinquent personal taxes at the recent collection period, he explained.

Expect House Action
On the house side, the rules committee was expected to approve at a forenoon session a resolution setting up a special seven-man committee to go into the whole field of commodity speculation.

Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.), who wrote the resolution and is slated to head the inquiry, told newsmen that Edwin W. Pauley, who already has disclosed to the senate committee that he was heavily involved in commodity futures while serving as special assistant to the secretary of the Army, ought to resign.

"He has violated the trust of the American people," Andresen said. Pauley insisted that (A) his market position was known when he took the government job on Sept. 3, (B) he agreed to liquidate his holdings as fast as good business practice would permit, and (C) he never used or even tried to get any inside government information on commodity buying plans.

Want Cheap Gasoline?

"Serve-Yourself" Stations Latest Fad on West Coast

BY VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17.—Motorists with an eye for thrift—and pretty girls in tight slacks—are lining up in droves these days to fill their own tanks at a string of self-service gas stations.

They're the latest tourist attractions in East Los Angeles, South Gate, and Long Beach, Cal. Gas is cheaper there than anywhere else in town. Prices range from a nickel less than the "super-service" stations to a tenth of a cent less than the independents charge.

That's one reason why these "fill'er-up-yourself" lots are catching on. The other reason is that the "super-service" slacks and sweaters covering pretty girls who scoot around on roller skates.

Cashiers Pretty

They're the "cashiers." Five or six gorgeous lassies who take your money with a be-dimpled smile and whisk away for change, giving you a behind-the-wheel eyeful of slacks going the other way.

That's all the help you get. Want your tires checked? Windshield cleaned? radiator watered? Do it yourself.

Owner George Ulrich, the man who turned a wild idea into a minor mint, is all for taking the "service" out of service stations. No array of bright-eyed young attendants swarms over your automobile while you lounge behind the wheel.

You fill your own tank from one of the 18 bright red pumps. All those pretty lassies'll give you is change. And maybe a little help unhooking the hose.

"It's a big gamble," Manager Hugh Lacy admitted. "Because the gasoline business is the most competitive in the state. That 'super-service' gimmick is how big stations drag in customers. Those guys'll do everything but polish your spectacles."

"But we decided if self-service would work in markets, it'd work in gas stations. We opened 10 days ago—with big searchlights and flags and street signs—and business has been terrific."

Customers Pleased

"People come in expecting to wait on themselves. They even get a big kick out of playing with the pump. Once in a while some guy'll spray gasoline all over the joint—but for amateurs they catch on pretty quick."

Ulrich can undercut his competitors a nickel per gallon and still make money 24 hours a day. His only labor costs are those cuties in wheels—plus three or four men to work the midnight-to-dawn shift to guard against "self-service" romance.

Doctor bills come out of the profits too. Seems business has been so good.

"Our competitors got rough the other night," Lacy growled. "Seven thugs pulled in about 1 a. m. in a big sedan and beat up two of our help. That's not all. We get anonymous letters and phone calls threatening our lives if we don't get out. Look."

Lacy opened his coat. Strapped to his shoulder was a .32 automatic. The lady "gas-hops" lure business men—Lacy's gonna make sure he's alive to keep it.

EISENHOWER BIG WORRY TO TAFT, DEWEY FORCES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Political strategists for Governor Dewey and Senator Taft said today they have come to regard Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as potentially the hardest man to beat for the Republican presidential nomination.

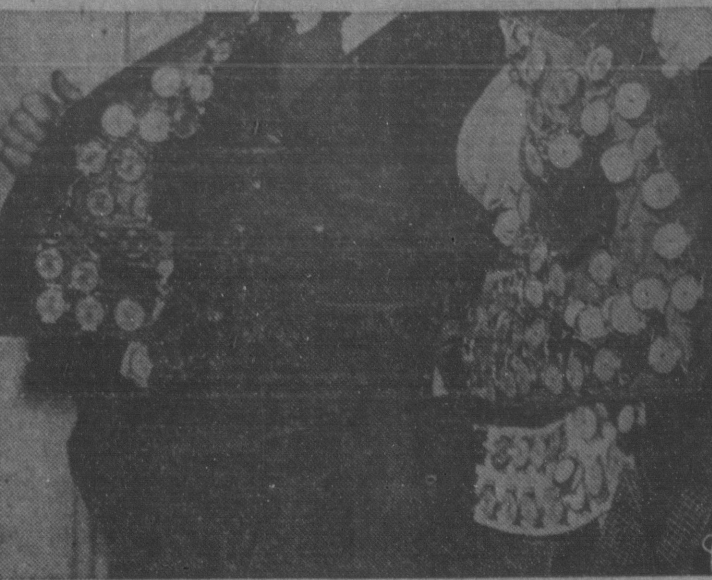

Dewey supporters told a reporter the retiring Army chief of staff may become the strongest sort of a darkhorse contender if the New York governor is unable to break through the array of major candidates and favorite sons early in the convention. The Dewey forces now concede privately this field will block any first ballot nomination at Philadelphia in June.

Similarly, a Taft strategist said in a separate interview the Ohio senator's backers think Eisenhower, rather than any of the other most frequently mentioned candidates, may become the man they have to beat to get the nomination. This concentration on Eisenhower, expected to retire early next year to become president of Columbia university on June 7, promises to have some effect on the type of campaign conducted by the major candidates.

All of them, including former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, are likely to exert every possible effort to force Eisenhower out into the open and get him on the record on national issues as early as possible.

Boyle's COLUMN

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 — Just 50 years ago a small girl, panged with doubt, sat down and wrote a letter to a newspaper that asked an immortal question—and received an immortal answer.

The girl was 8-year-old Virginia O'Hanlon. Her troubled question: "Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

Today little Virginia is a 58-year-old school principal who never since has questioned the reality of Santa Claus. The newspaperman who answered her back in 1897 with an unsigned editorial published in the New York Sun was Francis P. Church, and his reply has become a part of American Christmas folklore.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy."

CHURCH WENT ON to point out that there is nothing else real and abiding but the beauty of the unseen world whose passwords are faith, fancy, poetry and romance, and concluded:

"No Santa Claus! Thank God, he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, may ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Church died a number of years ago, and the little Virginia whose faith in Santa Claus he kept is now Mrs. Edward Douglas, a widow and principal of a public school in Manhattan's lower east side.

Curiously, the girl who asked the famous question and the man who gave the famous answer never met or saw each other.

A FRIEND of my family, however, was a neighbor to Church and complained that he kept doing that barked too much," she laughed. "That was all I knew of him."

A trim, pleasant-faced woman with gray hair and blue eyes, Mrs. Douglas recalled that at first she was mildly displeased by the original publication of her letter because schoolmates teased her.

But the editorial that Mr. Church wrote means even more to me now than then. As each year passes I see more in it."

Its philosophy has influenced her own life, and she still believes with a whole heart in the things for which Santa Claus is one symbol.

Annually people from all parts of America write her the joy they have found in reading the famous editorial. She enjoys them all except a few from cranks who accuse her of personally inventing Santa Claus to confuse the downtrodden masses.

Mrs. Douglas has a daughter and six grandchildren, and her lifetime teaching career has kept her close to the world of childhood. Her school is in a poor neighborhood which is predominantly Jewish. Until the board of education banned trees as fire hazards one Jewish parent who worked in a market arranged each year to provide a Christmas tree for every room in the school.

"I DOUBT if he observed Christmas in his own home," she said. "They begin to have doubts about Santa Claus at an earlier age. One reason is they are more mechanically minded, and they just can't figure how Santa can do what he's supposed to with nothing but reindeer pulling him."

But she thinks both children and grownups everywhere in the disturbed modern world need to renew their simple faith in what Santa Claus stands for.

"You don't want to isolate children in a world of make-believe," she said. "But with international conditions what they are, any small happiness that can be provided to counterbalance harsh realities is a fine thing. What is Santa Claus but the spirit of giving?"

And Mrs. Edward Douglas says she still believes in him just as much today as little Virginia O'Hanlon did half a century ago.

Grocer Devises New Way To Sell Things Cheaper

PORTLAND, Ore.—A man "who can get it for you wholesale" is in the grocery business in Portland.

J. A. Remboldt is converting his residential area meat and grocery market to what he calls a "service fee" plan. Under it he offers T-bone steaks for 55 cents a pound, large eggs at 65 cents a dozen and 10-pound sacks of flour for 96 cents.

Remboldt's "service fee" is a $5 monthly charge he makes to all customers participating in the plan. In return for the fee, Remboldt's customers receive a card entitling them to buy meat and groceries at either wholesale cost or at a 20 per cent reduction from list price.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
THE FAILURE of the Big Four ministers' conference in London—a complete and acrimonious collapse—was a foregone conclusion.

Ever since the parley began November 25 for the purpose of drafting German and Austrian peace treaties, it has been a knock-down fight between Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and the representatives of the three democracies—U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, French Foreign Minister Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Bevin.

As the meeting drew to its bitter close Molotov charged that the Western powers had formed a "common front" and had tried to heap everything on the head of the Soviet Union, but General Marshall is quoted as declaring:

"Three delegations at this conference have registered their willingness to take these decisions here and now. The Soviet union alone refuses to agree."

WELL, WHAT NEXT? Indications are that Russia intends to intensify her drive to defeat the Marshall plan and extend her domination westward across Europe. This will be countered vigorously by the three democracies, and observers look for an early unification of the American, British and French zones of Germany, leaving Russia in exclusive control of the rich eastern part of the dismembered Reich.

The logical outcome of such a partition (barring a complete change of heart by the Muscovites) would be the ultimate establishment of two Germanies—an eastern section dominated by Russia, and the Western zone independent, but hampered economically and sitting under the big guns of the BoShevists. The failure to produce a unified Germany might be expected to have far reaching and perhaps adverse effects on the rehabilitation of a continent which has depended so heavily upon Germany for its economic wellbeing in the past. Unification of the three Western zones, however, would be a vast improvement over the present arrangement.

RUSSIA'S MILITARY control of Eastern Germany, and of Eastern Austria, not only will assist Moscow in consolidating its grip on Eastern Europe but will provide the Soviet with powerful bases for the
rope. Observers look for an intensification of the Russian drive immediately.

The day by day proceedings of the foreign ministers' conference have made it clear that Moscow had no intention whatsoever of making an agreement. From start to finish Molotov pursued the customary Soviet tactics of stalling for time so as to hamper rehabilitation, and used the meeting as a sounding board for the spread of Bolshevik propaganda which was calculated to put the Democracies in a bad light and give Communism a lift.

There isn't much reason to believe that Molotov's propaganda efforts have been successful. However, from Moscow's standpoint he may have given some temporary aid to the Communist program of world revolution by blocking agreement on the treaties which the democracies have been so anxious to see concluded.

I NONE IMPORTANT respect,
Russia has received a distinct setback. When France entered the conference she was maintaining a middle-of-the-road course between the Soviet union and the democracies.
Paris wanted to be friendly with Moscow.

However, Molotov's uncompromising attitude and his violent attacks on the Western allies pushed France into the American-British camp. Undoubtedly France also was influenced by continuation of the use of strike and other strong-arm methods by the French Communists in their efforts to unseat the government. In any event, an almost complete rupture of relations between Russia and France has developed.

On balance it may well prove to be that Moscow has lost far more than it has gained by its methods in the Big Four conference.

Europe Expecting Half Of U. S. Farm Machinery

One of the forecasts of the 16-nation Committee of European Cooperation reported in September that Europe will need to import 14,000 light and medium tractors in 1947-48, and 51,000 heavy tractors over the next four years.

This is a sample of requests on and "if and when the Marshall Plan is adopted" basis, and is one reason why the capital expects sweeping cuts by Congress.
Even partial fulfillment of such requests for farm machinery, it is figured, might run as high as half of our output. What actual exports of farm equipment can be, says one,
"only time and Congress will tell."

North Lima Snaps Clipper Win Streak At 25, Wins 40 to 30

OHIO'S LONGEST VICTORY CHAIN BROKEN AS CLIPPER CHAMPS LOSE FIRST IN FIVE

Ohio's Class B state champions and Salem's Friday evening foe—the Columbiana Clippers—had Ohio's longest current winning streak, 25 in a row, snapped abruptly 40-30 Tuesday night by a talented North Lima crew at North Lima.

It was the first loss in six games this season for Coach Jack Cramb's Clippers and the victory kept North Lima among the unbeaten in district Class B ranks.

Previously Columbiana had stacked up 19 straight wins to cop the 1947 Class B title last season.

The last team to edge the Clippers was Salem, back on Dec. 29, 1946, when Bob Miller's Quakers did the job at Columbiana, 33-25, the only time the champs lost last year.

It was Cramb's first basketball loss as Clipper tutor and Clipper-town's fifth cage loss in four seasons.

Mel Taylor was a great help, too, for he racked up 10 points and turned in a sterling defensive game.

Columbians never actually figured in the ball game, North Lima stepping into an 11-7 lead in the first period, going ahead 23-13 by halftime and leading comfortably 32-19 as the final frame began.

The Clippers rallied somewhat in the fourth to out-score the victors 11-8.

Sammy Prizant turned in a brilliant floor game for the Clippers and totaled 15 points, but his scoring wasn't enough. Dependable Dick Perkins, who usually hits 'em from all over, came through with seven points for second high honors.

The Clipper reserves also met trouble, dropping a thrilling 22-20 overtime decision to North Lima in the preliminary.

Youngstown Cubs Maintain Lead Spot

(By United Press)

The league-leading Youngstown Cubs notched another victory on their season's record last night with a decisive 67-51 triumph over the Cumberland Dukes in the All-American professional basketball league.

The Cubs' display of power completely overwhelmed the depleted Cumberland squad which could muster only six players for the game.

Youngstown took the lead early in the first quarter and stayed on top throughout the contest, substituting freely during the second half.

The loss tumbled the second place Dukes into a tie for last.

The standings:

Youngstown	6	2	.750
Altoona	2	2	.500
Wheeling	3	3	.500
Zanesville	3	4	.428

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

You can't get too much out of Fred Cope, Salem faculty manager, on the subject of just what is being done—or even considered—on the Salem-Leetonia football series, but it's a sure thing something is in the wind.

Cope is willing to admit that the 1948 Quaker football schedule may "break" any day now, but he won't say one way or the other about the exact content of the anticipated schedule.

The reason for the big secrecy—the "well, I can't say" attitude right now—is most certainly the Salem-Leetonia game. Salem hasn't made its mind up yet whether or not it wants Leetonia on the schedule next year and nothing official will be forthcoming until that decision is reached.

And while we're speaking frankly about the thing, let's get it straight that the suggestion that the series and actually came first from Leetonia. But that wasn't Leetonia's final decision.

Leetonia at first wavered on the idea of playing again in 1948, through impetus from the coaches there, we understand—but now wants the game because of pressure by the players themselves and some ardent fans.

The Leetonia contract has been forwarded to Salem, but Salem has not yet signed the paper nor indicated whether it will be signed.

As a matter of fact, the contract is simply laying on Cope's desk, awaiting the Quaker decision.

There are varying sets of opinions on whether Salem should revive the competition again next year. It does appear that the Bears string of top-notch teams is about run out for a while.

Things don't look too good for 1948 from Leetonia's viewpoint, while they do look fairly good here in Salem.

In ordinary circumstances—that is when the Bear cycle isn't "up"—Salem has little business playing Leetonia. Most people will agree to that.

It doesn't seem possible that Salem and Leetonia can have even, exciting battles year in and year out under the present set-up.

This corner, consequently, is of the opinion that a discontinuance of the competition here and now would be for the best.

It would be far better to do it now, while things are on a fairly even keel, than to wait until Salem becomes over-dominant once again—as the law of averages indicates is sure to in time.

Relations were severed some years ago because of a Salem margin high in the nineties. There is no need for that to happen again.

It's been a good competition over the past five or six years, but the circumstances were unusual. Let's drop it there and everyone will be happier.

LEETONIA WINS FIRST OVER BELOIT CAGERS

Coach Bud Dean's Leetonia Bears scored their first victory in three starts Tuesday night when they defeated Beloit 41-25 on the latter's floor.

Eddie Sullivan paced the winners with an 18 point barrage, with Al Stumpo notching six points. Weisenecker of Beloit collected seven.

The Bears pulled away to a comfortable lead in the second period when they outscored Beloit 12-3. Leetonia will tangle with the Lisbon, Blue Devils Friday night at home.

Things don't look too good for 1948 from Leetonia's viewpoint, while they do look fairly good here in Salem.

PAT HARDER TOPS NATIONAL SCORING IN PRO LEAGUE

Takes Honors Despite Deficiency In Td Column This Year

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17.—Pat Harder, fullback on the Western division winning Chicago Cardinals, is the new scoring king of the National Football league with 102 points—the fourth highest mark in league history.

Final statistics released today showed Harder reached that total by scoring seven touchdowns and kicking seven field goals and 39 extra points. Dick Poffon of Washington finished second with 85 points and Steve Van Buren—the Philadelphia Eagles' all-time ground gaining titlist—was third with 84 points.

Both Van Buren and Steve Lach of the Pittsburgh Steelers registered more touchdowns than Harder; in fact Van Buren got twice as many. But it was Harder's accurate kicking toe (he missed only one extra point attempt all year) that won him the honor.

His 1947 total was two points better than the mark with which Ted Fritsch of Green Bay won in 1946—and 36 points under the record of 138 points set by Don Hutson, also of Green Bay in 1942.

But in all NFL history only Hutson (who also had 117 points in 1943) and Van Buren have scored more points in a single season than Harder. Van Buren had 110 points in 1945.

Van Buren, who finished third in ground gaining in 1946, not only won the title this year but shattered the record of 1,604 yards which Reddie Feathers of the Chicago Bears established back in 1934.

Van Buren's final total for the year was 1,008. He lagged the pigskin 217 times—which was one more try higher than the previous top of 216 carries registered by Cliff Battles of Washington in 1937. Feathers, when he set his record, ran the ball only 117 times.

As expected, Sammy Baugh had a hand in several new records. His new marks included: Attempts 354, completions 210 and yards gained, 2,938.

Jim Keane of the Bears led the league in pass receiving, snaring 64 yards for 910 yards gained and 10 touchdowns.

Jack Jacobs of Green Bay was the league's No. 1 punter. He had an average of 43.7 on 57 boots.

Penn State Pins Popes For Bowl Win On Linemen

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
United Press Sports Writer

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 17.—Unbeaten and untied Penn State pitted its hopes today on its mighty line—the nearest thing in football to seven immovable objects—to carry it through to victory over Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's day.

And the team's all-around defensive feat of holding its nine opponents to an average of 76.7 yards per game in both rushing and passing is second only to the modern record of 89.9 yards set by Santa Clara in 1937.

Big Steve Suhey, the Lions' forward man and one of the nation's outstanding guards, is the linemen in the forward wall that has been penetrated for only 27 points this year. Suhey turned in a 90-minute performance against Navy and averaged 50 minutes of play in other games.

Biggest man in the line is Co-Captain Johnny Nolan, a 228-pound tackle. Co-Captain John Patskan at end and John Wolosky, whom Higgins describes as the most underrated center in the east, are other big factors in Penn State's brilliant defense record.

Sam Taniuro at the other end, Negley Norton at tackle and Joe Drazonovich at guard round out the strong starting line.

Besides being able to check their opponents, the Lions also give evidence that they can get up and go with a well-drilled single wing attack that produced 310 points in 1947, the second highest total in Penn State's 61-year football history.

Offensively, Penn State is primarily a running team, with six top-flight ball-carriers whom Higgins rates about even. The Lions have averaged 363.8 yards per game on the ground compared to the 62.4 yards they've averaged through the air.

Elwood Fetzler, 145-pound seat-back, is State's chief offensive threat and handles what little passing the team employs, although Jeff Burkota, a 205-pound wing-back is the squad's leading scorer with 19 touchdowns.

Francis Rogel, a hard-hitting Sophomore fullback, fleet-footed Larry Joe, Wally Triplett and Bobby Williams are the other key backs, with Charlie Drazonovich calling the signals and handling the brunt of the blocking.

Higgins and his all-Alumni coaching staff have stressed pass defense in their early workouts for the 40-man squad in an effort to check Doak Walker and Gil Johnson, Southern Methodist's ace passers.

The squad will leave campus on Dec. 21, stop over at Washington university in St. Louis for a limbering up drill, and then go on to Dallas for Penn State's first bowl venture since its 1923 defeat by Southern California, 14 to 3, in the Rose Bowl.

The Timekeeper team continued to hold first place in the league, with a two game lead over the Finishers.
